

Huddersfield and District Archaeological Society
at the Heritage Quay – Huddersfield University
THURSDAY 7th March 2019 - 7:45 pm

1939

2017

Charge for non-members £2.50

Castle Hill, Almondbury. Excavations 1939 -2017
By Ian Roberts FSA MCIfA Consultant Archaeologist

1969

The lecture will review the previous investigations directed by William Varley.

It will also consider his (and others) pre-conceptions about the site, his methods, and his changing interpretations, to provide a context for the results of the excavations undertaken in the hillfort 'annex' by the Huddersfield and District Archaeological Society in 2017.

A steep hill where an old rampire and the ruins of a wall are guarded with a triple fortification
William Camden 1695